„The smart way of cycling...“ that's the new motto 2010 at Northern German recumbent manufacturer Toxy. At EUROBIKE (Hall A1, FW 321) they present three brand new folding recumbents:

T

The brilliant Toxy-Elite is developed as a completely new Toxy model. With its dreamlike folding size of 79-39-79cm (31-15.5-31" only) it will furiously enter the „classic“ market of folding bikes. And the relaxed, comfortable seating position, combined with the easy boarding frame and easiest all over handling will inspire all comfort orientated cyclists.

The successful Toxy-LT will also be available with a folding frame in spring 2009. Here Toxy is aiming at the latest preferences of the emerging recumbent community.

Imagine travelling by rail or plane, in any case, where storage space is rare and expensive, you can easily take your foldable Toxy recumbent with you. And at the point of destination it unfolds its perfect riding and travelling qualities within seconds.

All Toxies are built personally, due to any riders individual needs and preferences. Light weight marathon racing or daily commuting are only few of the aspects of the wide range of assembly options, customers can choose from.

Sportive cyclists, who take their racing bikes with them for holidays, spring training camps or races, will love the new Toxy-ZR „RaceCase“ advantages: Exciting speed, perfect comfort, and now even safe and easy transportation.

The new Toxy-ZR „RaceCase“ comes with a longer mono rear lever, which allows to fold the rear wheel into the main frame. So it is possible to pack the complete ZR into the rigid Race-Case, including the seat and all components. – Furthermore there is enough space left for your race clothing, bicycle shoes and other equipment.

Toxy says, first orders should be placed right now for soonest delivery. Assembly and shipping will start September 2009. You can order by e-mail, phone or just click the Toxy webshop with personal online configuration. Please note „foldable“ as comment.
